DETAILED ACTION

1. The amendment to the claims has been considered and made of record.
2. Claims 1 and 3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

the claims directed to a method for making antenna however claims also recited structural limitation such as " - - - antenna comprising a horn, a circular polarizer , an impedance adapter, etc (see claim 1, preamble ) which made the scope of the claims unclear. Further, it is not clear whether or not the above mention features are a part of the claimed antenna.

"the surface of the conformed block of foam" (claim 1, line 8) lack proper antecedent basis, note that the foam block appears to have at least four external surfaces.

Also, whether or not the surface is directed to the external surface of the block synthetic foam ?

"method such as projection using a brush , or dipping " (claim 3, line 2) in form of an alternative formats therefore it is unclear as to exactly what metallizing method applicants are referring in the process.

3. Claims 1 and 3 as best understood are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Jenness, Jr. (5426443).

Wilson discloses a product by manufacturing process for a microwave corrugated-horn antenna, characterized in that it consists in forming the antenna by thermoforming external surface of a block of synthetic foam 20 and in then metallizing the surface of the conformed block of foam by in order to form the antenna (see Fig. 1, and the discussed at col. 3-4). Further, regarding the process associated in a single step of using a single mold. It would have been an obvious matter of design choice to choose any desired antenna thermoforming techniques such as that as recited in claim 1, about lines 5-7, since applicant has not disclosed that these features are critical, patentably distinguishing features and it appears that the invention would perform equally well with the teaching s provided by the Jenness where the forming antenna where the body of the foam can be obtain by molding (see discussed at col. 3, lines 30-37, col. 4, lines ).

Limitation of claim 3 appear to be met by the above (see discussed at col. 5, lines 53-68, etc., where conductive paint can be coated on the surface of the conformed foam block 10/20 respectively).

Response to Arguments

4. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1 and 3 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

5. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
6. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
